Thematic Paper

You are required to write a thematic paper that traces one of the biblical themes discussed in the course. The paper should be 1000-2000 words in length and follow MLA style. Choose one of the options below:

Option A. Trace one of the biblical themes from the list below noting developments of that theme in the Old Testament and in the New Testament. Show how New Testament writers reinterpreted the theme. Show the continuity in the development of the theme as well as any changes in meaning. Note any areas of disputed understanding. This paper must be accompanied by an outline. Length: 1000-2000 words.

Justice	Love	Jerusalem
Wrath	Christ	Son of God
Lord	Priest	Prophet
Servant	Son of Man	Shepherd
Chosen People	Kingdom of God	Elijah
Righteousness	Faith	Obedience
Redemption	Salvation	Resurrection
Law	Death	Passover
Sin	Repentance	Compassion

See the course Doc Sharing area for a bibliography for source material. Be sure to use some of those biblical reference books in the bibliography for your paper, especially those by Bauer, Buttrick, Freedman, Kittel and Friedrich, Leon-Dufour, McKenzie, and Sackenfeld. Avoid using other sources found on the Internet unless cleared in advance with the instructor. Publically available digital sources may not always be of high quality. The paper needs to be well documented. Be certain to distinguish between paraphrase and quotation.

Option B. Describe the intended audiences (readers) for the Gospels according to Mark, Matthew, Luke, and John. Show how specific words and/or passages in each Gospel imply particular audiences.

See the course Doc Sharing area for a bibliography for source material. Be sure to use some of those biblical reference books in the bibliography for your paper, especially Brown. You may find an EBSCO search using the online library resources to be helpful. Limit your search to full-text and peer-reviewed articles. You may also search with GOOGLE BOOKS (not just GOOGLE) to access published books online; document the information from those books as books including author, title, publisher, date, and page numbers. The paper needs to be well documented. Be certain to distinguish between paraphrase and quotation.

The Thematic Paper is due by the conclusion of Module 3. A grading rubric is available in the course Doc Sharing area.

Exegesis Paper

You will complete an exegesis of a passage from the New Testament (employing methods of interpretation and perspectives, such as literary and historical context, literary form, and structure). Exegesis means to expound upon a text, to unpack a text of its many meanings. Elements of various types of criticism will be employed to further develop your ability to interpret the Bible. The paper should be 2000-3000 words in length and follow MLA style.

Select one of the following passages as the basis for your exegesis:

- Matthew 6:9-13
- Matthew 17:1-13
- Luke 9:18-36
- Luke 11:2-4

Follow the outline below and answer the questions in each section using recommended sources. Keep the outline headings below as the subheadings of your exegesis.

- 1. Literary Criticism
 - a. Context: What follows and precedes your passage? Are your pages affected by this context?
 - b. Form criticism: What is the literary form of your passage? Are there other places in the Bible (or related text) where this form is used and which help to interpret this passage?
 - c. Structure: Do you detect any particular structural pattern (e.g., parallelism within your assigned book of the Bible)? Describe the parts of your passage.
 - d. Redaction criticism: Has your passage come through an editorial process? What changes have been made? Explain why certain changes have been made.
 - e. Key words: What are the theologically important words in the passage? Do these words evoke any other parts of the Bible? Are these words used in a new way by the author of this passage? What do these words mean?
- 2. Theological Analysis
 - a. What does this passage say about the relationship with God?
 - b. What questions might this passage have addressed in the community for which it was originally written?

[Some of the ideas above are adopted from A Guide to Biblical Exegesis by G. Landes and W. Wink (unpublished.)]

You should document your exegesis carefully. Be sure to use some material from the bibliography in the course Doc Sharing area for your exegesis, especially the biblical reference books. Below are some hints for successfully completing the paper:

- 1. Look up your passage in the New Testament.
- 2. Consult a general commentary (such as The Jerome Biblical Commentary, The New Jerome Biblical Commentary, or The Collegeville Bible Commentary).
- 3. Consult specific commentaries (see the course bibliography in Doc Sharing, e.g., Harrington's Matthew's Gospel, Fitzmyer's The Gospel According to Luke).
- 4. Conduct a periodical search (through EBSCO) of your passage, limiting search to full-text, peer-reviewed journals.

Use the checklist below to ensure that you are following the format properly:

- 1. Are all ideas documented (including page numbers)?
- 2. Are all quotations documented (including page numbers)?

- 3. Is there a works cited page?
- 4. Do the notes and bibliography include sources recommended by the syllabus?
- 5. Does the format include the headings from the syllabus?
- 6. Does each sentence make sense?
- 7. Does the "form" section clearly name a literary form?
- 8. Does the redaction section contrast the assigned passage with Mark's version (except for infancy narrative and Lord's Prayer)?
- 9. Does the key word section include more than one key word?
- 10. Does the key word section refer to Old Testament material?

A draft of the paper is due by the conclusion of Module 5 and is worth 5% of the course grade. The final paper is due by the conclusion of Module 7 and is worth 25% of the course grade. A grading rubric is available in the course Doc Sharing area.
